

LATOUR CAPITAL

OPERATIONAL EQUITY

8 February 2021

Latour Capital further strengthens its team with two new additions to the investment team and two internal promotions

Nicholas Whitbeck is promoted to Director. Nicholas joined Latour in 2018 after five years working in M&A at Evercore in London. Since joining, he took part in the investments in Sogetrel, Atlas For Men, Primonial and Santiane. Nicholas graduated from HEC Paris.

Chloé Legrix de la Salle is promoted to Associate, after joining Latour Capital in 2019. Since joining, she notably worked on the Atlas For Men deal and on the carve-out of Solvay's strontium / barium / sodium percarbonate business. Chloé graduated from HEC Paris.

Léa Soulier joins Latour as an Associate. Prior to this, she worked as an M&A associate at Morgan Stanley (2 years) and Michel Dyens & Co (1 year). Léa graduated from HEC Paris.

Antoine Bonnefous joins Latour as an Associate. He started his career within Bpifrance's large cap investment team, where we worked on several investments in public and private companies, alongside PE firms and individual shareholders. Antoine graduated from ESCP Business School.
